“Sophisticated Manufacturing”, solution for Industrial Machinery and Components

- Supply chain management capabilities effective for in-house, outsourced, or decentralized manufacturing
- Streamlined, automated, and connected business processes
- Collaborative management capabilities to support product development over the entire life cycle
- A coordinated, integrated system with the flexibility to handle changes to channels, geographies, and business modes

That will benefit the company by:

- Quicker reaction time to supply disruptions thanks to greater visibility into demand and supply, and improved collaboration with suppliers, partners, and customers
- Faster response times to market changes and operational events – from shifts in demand to supply chain disruptions – and improved global price maintenance
- Reduced time to market and faster response to dynamic customer demand
- Ability to capitalize on high-profit opportunities such as mergers and acquisitions, new business models, and services
